

<http://www.MSCNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=11865>

Boil Advisory Lifted for Horton

The boil advisory for water customers of the city of Horton has been lifted.

The city said this (Wednesday) morning that laboratory testing on water samples collected Tuesday indicated no evidence of contamination.

The boil advisory was issued Sunday evening following repairs to a water main.

Meanwhile, the city has been continuing to repair additional small leaks that have sprung up during the week.