Savannah, MO Man to have Prelim on Multiple Felonies

A Savannah, Missouri man opted for a preliminary hearing on multiple felony and misdemeanor charges Monday in Atchison County District Court.

Ricky Billings will have the prelim on June 28th on charges of possession of methamphetamine, possession of drug paraphernalia, felony fleeing and eluding, felony obstruction, driving while suspended and driving under the influence.

He was arrested on May 20th by the Kansas Highway Patrol Trooper Bryan Clark after a high speed chase was terminated through Atchison.

Sheriff's Deputies later located the vehicle abandoned in the 1100 block of U Street. After receiving tips from the public, authorities were able to locate Billings after a lengthy foot chase.

Authorities later learned Billings was wanted by the state of Missouri for a parole violation.

In that warrant in Andrew County, Missouri, KQ2 News reports Country Club Village Police Chief Richard Scott is seeking 11 charges against Billings in Andrew County.

The charges range from assault on a law enforcement officer and resisting arrest to driving on a suspended license and speeding.

Billings is wanted by Country Club Village police following a brief pursuit on May 16.

The police department said Billings hit a patrol car, and then fled following an attempted traffic stop.
