

<http://www.MSCNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=14642>

Huskers Picked Third in Big 10 Legends Division

Nebraska is picked to finish third in the Legends Division of the Big Ten, in an informal football poll of 24 beat writers who cover the league. Michigan is picked to win the Legends Division, while Wisconsin is the choice to win the Leaders Division.

Michigan received 16 of 24 first place votes to win the Legends Division, with Michigan State receiving seven first place votes and picked to finish second. Nebraska received one first place vote. Iowa, Northwestern, and Minnesota round out the Legends Division.

Wisconsin received 19 of 24 first place votes in the Leaders Division, with Ohio State, picked to finish second, receiving the other five first place nods. Beat writers predict Purdue to finish third in the Leaders Division, followed by Illinois, Penn State, and Indiana.

Michigan got 11 of 24 votes to with the Big Ten title this season.

MSC News