JCN Board to Analyze Employee Evaluations

(KAIR) -- The Jefferson County North school board Monday night will spend a majority of their meeting behind closed doors.

That's because they will be analyze evaluations of teachers, principals and the superintendent in executive session.

They will also continue annual teacher negotiations in executive session as well.

The board will also get an update on the April bond proposal being presented to voters.

The meeting will start at 7:30 at the district office in Winchester.
