Holiday Weekend a Quiet One for Atchison Police

It was an extended Fourth of July holiday weekend, but a relatively quiet one for the Atchison Police Department.

That word coming from Atchison Police Chief Mike Wilson.

Wilson says the decrease in calls related to fireworks is becoming a trend.

Wilson adds there were few disturbance calls and no traffic accidents within city limits over the holiday weekend.

Atchison Fire Chief Mike McDermed says his department responded to a couple of fireworks-related calls over the Fourth of July Holiday, one of which resulted in minor damage to a home at 1700 Parallel Street.
