Grazing Conference Call

Join us Monday evening, September 9, 7:30 pm for a teleconference conversation on grazing. You can join us from your home and the call is toll free. Forage and grazing management experts, Gary Kilgore, K-State retired professor, and Keith Harmony, K-State range scientist, and Dale Kirkham, Kansas Rural Center, will field questions during the call.

The conversation, facilitated by Dale Kirkham, is structured around the questions and comments participants bring to the call, so we encourage you to raise questions related to grazing management and forages during the call. Feel free to join in or leave the call anytime between 7:30 and 9 pm at your convenience. When you join the call, don't hesitate to introduce yourself and state your question.

Anyone can participate by simply dialing in 1-877-304-5632.

You will then be prompted to dial in a "conference room number".

Please dial in 300 346 2424 and follow directions.

That's all you need to do to join us.

If possible, keep your phone on mute when you are not speaking. This helps reduce background noise to make the call easier for everyone to hear. If your phone does not have a mute option--you can mute by punching the star (*) key located in the lower left of your keypad then the number 6. You can then un-mute your phone by punching *7.

Thanks and we look forward to the talk on Monday evening!
