

<http://www.MSCNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=45375>

New Ks Education Commissioner to Visit Hiawatha

(KNZA)--Incoming Kansas Education Commissioner Randy Watson will be visiting Hiawatha next month.

Watson began a 15-stop tour last Thursday to meet with parents, lawmakers and others about what they want from the state's public schools.

He will be in Hiawatha on February 19th from 9 to 11 that morning at the Fisher Center.

Watson was selected for the commissioner job in November. He replaces Diane DeBacker who left in May.

Watson previously was superintendent of the 24-hundred student McPherson school district. He also was chairman of the Kansas Coalition of Innovative School Districts.

Many Signals Communications