

<http://www.MSCNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=63001>

Separate Fact From Fiction On Mountain Lions

Black panthers in Missouri? Female cougars with cubs? Stocking mountain lions to eat feral hogs? Young male mountain lions passing through?

Separate fact from fiction with the Missouri Department of Conservation's (MDC) upcoming "Wild Webcast: Mountain Lions in Missouri" Wednesday, Sept. 20, from noon to 1 p.m.

MDC Furbearer Biologist Laura Conlee and Alan Leary of MDC's Mountain Lion Response Team will provide a brief presentation on these big cats in the Show-Me State and then answer questions from webcast participants to help separate fact from fiction on mountain lions in Missouri.

REGISTER NOW at bit.ly/2h9pcpG for "MDC Wild Webcast: Mountain Lions in Missouri."

Watch previous MDC Wild Webcasts on Birds and Birding, Talking Hogs, The Buzz about Pollinators, Be Bear Aware, The Fight Against Chronic Wasting Disease, and Discover Nature – Fishing at mdc.mo.gov/contact-engage/mdc-wild-webcasts.