

<http://www.MSCNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=67922>

Plea entered in Jackson Co child sex case

(KNZA)--A Topeka man facing child-related sex charges in Jackson County has entered into a plea agreement, canceling a jury trial that has been set next month in the case.

29-year-old Jamie Woltje pleaded no contest August 9 in Jackson County District Court to a reduce charge of aggravated indecent solicitation of a child.

Woltje had faced two counts of aggravated criminal sodomy and one count of aggravated indecent liberties with a child.

Sentencing was set for September 27.

Woltje was arrested in July of last year following an investigation by the Jackson County Sheriff's Department into alleged sex crimes involving a child under 14 occurring in March 2015 in the city of Holton.

Many Signals Communications