KFB provides agricultural-relevant information on COVID-19

Kansas Farm Bureau (KFB) has launched a webpage to curate the news and resources farmers and ranchers need to navigate the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. Visit www.kfb.org/covid19 to see how KFB, government leaders and other agricultural industry groups are responding to the pandemic.

“At Kansas Farm Bureau, we are working on legislative issues to help you continue to work, while protecting your community,” KFB President Rich Felts says in a letter posted on the COVID-19 page. “In addition, American Farm Bureau Federation is diligently working with Congress on several agricultural-related issues as it pertains to protecting America’s farmers and ranchers through this pandemic.”

Coverage includes, but is not limited to, the following topics:

- Steps to help keep farm employees safe
- How industry is meeting grocery demand
- Guidance on the Kansas Open Meetings Act
- How families and businesses can access state and federal resources
- How COVID-19 is affecting transportation
- Access to virtual ag education resources

Kansas Farm Bureau staff will provide updates to topics as they happen, in addition to posting new ones as issues arise.

Kansas Farm Bureau's mission is to strengthen agriculture and the lives of Kansans through advocacy, education and service
