Falls City man injured in NW MO wreck

(KNZA)--A Falls City man was injured Thursday morning in a single-vehicle weather-related wreck in northwest Missouri.

The Missouri State Highway Patrol says it happened on Interstate-29 in Andrew County shortly before 9:00.

The Patrol reports 21-year-old David Reynolds was southbound when he lost control of his Ford Taurus on the snow and slush covered roadway. The vehicle went off the east side of the roadway, struck an embankment and overturned.

Reynolds, who was not wearing a seat belt, was taken by private vehicle to Community Medical Center, in Falls City, with suspected moderate injuries.
