

Elwood woman enters plea in child rape case

(KNZA)--An Elwood woman is to be sentenced later this month after pleading no contest to two counts of rape.

According to court documents, 23-year-old Kaitland Quimby entered the plea March 22 in Doniphan County District Court.

In exchange for the plea, two additional counts of rape were dismissed as part of a plea agreement.

Quimby was convicted of engaging in sexual intercourse with two different children under the age of 14.

She was arrested last August following an investigation by the Elwood Police Department.

Nemaha County Attorney Brad Lippert is serving as special prosecutor in the case.

Sentencing is scheduled for April 26.

Many Signals Communications