Polar Plunge Saturday in Auburn

The second annual Southeast Nebraska Polar Plunge takes place Saturday in Auburn as a way to raise money for Nebraska Special Olympics. Auburn Chamber Manager Rene Danley provides details. (play audio :12 seconds)

Danley says they are hoping to double last years participation numbers. (play audio :19 seconds)

If you want to take part, it is not to late to register. (play audio :17 seconds)

Once you are dried off and hopefully warmed up, there will be plenty of other events to take part in as part of the fund raising effort. (play audio :18 seconds)
