

<http://www.MSCNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=16779>

National Pony Express Convention in Seneca

(KMZA)-- The National Pony Express Convention will be held in Seneca this weekend.

100 to 125 people from the eight states involved in the annual Pony Express Re-ride are expected to attend.

Convention co-chair, Myra Koch of Seneca, says the convention will kick off Friday at the Knights of Columbus Hall...(play audio)

The convention will wrap up Sunday with a breakfast and tour of the Pony Express Museum in Seneca.

The convention rotates among the eight states involved in the re-ride.

It was last held in Seneca 16 years ago.

Every year, the National Pony Express Association conducts the re-ride over the 1,966 mile route of the Pony Express Historic Trail.

Over 500 riders and horses take part in the 10 day, round the clock event

Many Signals Communications