

<http://www.MSCNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=19150>

Brownback Discusses Tax Cuts in Atchison

(KAIR) -- Kansas Governor Sam Brownback made a stop in Atchison Thursday afternoon as a guest of the Atchison Rotary.

He discussed several topics, with a large focus on analyzing the most recent income tax cuts that passed the legislature last session.

He started off his presentation by tying the cause to act on the changes by Kansas steady decline in population.

(Play Audio) RT: :27

Brownback also discussed how the tax policy effects education.

(Audio Continues) RT: :29

Brownback also added dollars per pupil are better than surrounding states.

Brownback also discussed the tax cuts for small businesses.

(Audio Continues) RT: :24

Brownback says moving forward with an expected shortfall, he feels the state is in a better position to soften the blow.

(Audio Continues) RT: :33

The 2013 legislature will convene again in Topeka January 14th.

Many Signals Communications