Beginning Farmer and Rancher Call

The Kansas Rural Center invites beginning farmers and ranchers searching for information on access to credit and capital to join a phone call Wednesday, August 28, 2013, at 7:00 pm. The call will focus on known sources of access and tips on how to prepare for applying for credit.

To participate in the call, please sign-up here, or contact Natalie Fullerton at nfullerton@kansasruralcenter.org, or 402-310-0177.

The Kansas Rural Center is a non-profit organization that since 1979 has promoted the long-term health of the land and its people through research, education, and advocacy that advances economically viable, ecologically sound, and socially just food and farming systems. Beginning farmer and rancher support has been a long-term core value that KRC continues to cultivate.
