

<http://www.MSCNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=68408>

KS man killed in southeast Neb crash

FAIRBURY, Neb. (AP) — Authorities say a Kansas man died after a car he was in crashed off a rural road in southeast Nebraska.

The crash occurred Sunday, about 2 miles northwest of Fairbury. The Jefferson County Sheriff's Office says deputies found two injured people at the site. They'd been ejected.

One died later at a Fairbury hospital. He's been identified as Cody Craig, who lived in Hanover, Kansas.

The second, unidentified person was taken to a Lincoln hospital.

Investigators suspect alcohol consumption was a factor in the crash.

Associated Press