

Ties broken for city council seats

(KNZA)--The Brown County Commission Monday broke tie votes for three city council positions during a canvass of ballots from the November 5 election.

The name of Ron Wissler was drawn from among two write-in candidates who tied with 13 votes each for a seat on the Robinson City Council.

Leon Huning's name was drawn to fill a seat on the Morrill City Council from among two write-in candidates who tied with 7 votes each .

In addition, the name of Margaret Wikle was drawn from among four write-in candidates who tied with two votes each for a seat on the Fairview City Council.

Brown County Clerk Melissa Gormley reported a 43 percent voter turnout.

Many Signals Communications