

Atchison Co Quinn helps guide new leadership

(KAIR)--The newly named Chair of the Atchison County Commission shared her knowledge of leadership, in her role, as part of a panel discussion held last week.

According to a release, 3rd District Atchison County Commissioner Casey Quinn was in attendance at the New Commissioners Orientation, held in Topeka, as sponsored by the Kansas Association of Counties.

Quinn was among a group of four on a panel of experienced Kansas County Commissioners who, the release says, discussed “what they wish they had known before becoming a county commissioner.

The so-called “Look in the Rear View Mirror” session was held for the KAC's 47 new county commissioner participants.

The release thanks Quinn, and her fellow participants, “for sharing [their] valued experiences and wisdom as county commissioners.”

Quinn, during last week- organizational meeting of the Atchison County Commission, was elected to the role of Chair, while 2nd District Commissioner Eric Noll was elected Vice-Chair.

Many Signals Communications